FINE, FINE ART.

A Pleasing Showing of What Skill and Taste Council Bluffs Has.

The art exhibition, which opens to-day, in the building next to Officer & Pusey's bank, presents a very interesting and creditable showing of what Council Bluffs can produce in this line.

The display of Miss Craig's work shows that she is an artist of fine ability and cultivation. Some of her pieces would compare favorably with those of artists who have a national reputation.

Miss Hatcher's skill in crayon is shown in a number of fine pieces. A picture of the three Pharaoh's horses is one of her best, and has been favorably commented upon at previous exhibitions.

There are a large number of other pictures, too many to enumerate. Among them is a free hand crayon, representing a forester with a dead stag, and surrounded by his hounds.

Miss Maggie Britton has her first work there, a painting representing the castle of Spitzendorf, very good for an amateur.

Miss Mary Key has some of her handiwork shown, one being an especially fine landscape.

Mrs. J. C. Mitchell has several landscapes, and other paintings, reflecting credit upon her skill and taste.

Mrs. E. R. Rohrer has a very well painted pastoral scene, a wooden bowl taking the place of the canvas.

Mrs. Bessie Stewart has a beautiful floral piece in water colors.

Mrs. May Forman has a fine painting, landscape, showing very skillfully the approaching storm.

Mrs. Blais, who has already gained much praise by her paintings, has several of her best productions there.

Mrs. Broadbeck has also a number of fine pieces, noticeable among which is a panel of roses and a fish piece.

Mrs. C. F. Adams has several paintings. One is a large and well painted marine scene, and one of her landscapes is also of merit.

Mrs. D. M. Connell has shown especially her skill in floral pieces. Some geraniums are particularly well done.

Mrs. Ella Smith has a fine floral panel. Mrs. Fred Warner displays a painting of a dog's head, which cannot but excite the praise of those who visit the exhibition.

Capt. Hight has loaned to the ladies three paintings by Varot, which will be enjoyed by all. One of them, a marine scene, a storm at sea, is grand.

There were a large number of other pictures being put in place when the Bazaar visited the room yesterday, and to-day it is expected that all will be in readiness for the public to inspect at leisure.

A WONDERFUL OPERATION.

Muscle From a Dog's Leg Grafted on a Laundress' Arm.

The New York Herald says: The Bellevue Hospital physicians are just now exchanging congratulations over the successful result of a remarkable operation in "muscle-grafting," the first of the kind ever attempted in this country.

RUSSIA IN CENTRAL ASIA.

Her Progress Across the Desert and Over the Great Oasis of Turkestan.

New York Sun. A little east of the narrow tract now in dispute between Russia and Afghanistan is that extensive province called by the natives "The Pamir, or the Roof of the World."

The Pamir is a high, rugged plateau, furrowed by deep valleys, through which flow the head streams of great rivers, is the loftiest in the world, and stretches away for some hundreds of miles from 10,000 to 15,000 feet above the sea.

The New York Times indulges in the following comment upon this piece of audacious surgery: The operation of taking muscle from a dog's leg and placing it in a girl's arm was lately successfully performed.

Soon after the accident Dr. Parsons, a surgeon of much local celebrity, whose son is still a practicing physician in the village, asked the girl's permission to restore her nose, promising that he would make no charge for his services.

So far the operation was a complete success, but before very long the girl became dissatisfied. The nose, owing to its early casual associations, had a habit of wagging whenever the girl was pleased or interested in anything.

Mrs. J. C. Mitchell has several landscapes, and other paintings, reflecting credit upon her skill and taste. A plaque of lilies is especially fine, and one of horses drinking is one of the most worthy of notice in the room.

Mrs. E. R. Rohrer has a very well painted pastoral scene, a wooden bowl taking the place of the canvas. She has also a very handsome mirror, adorned with flowers.

Mrs. Bessie Stewart has a beautiful floral piece in water colors. Miss May Forman has a fine painting, landscape, showing very skillfully the approaching storm.

Mrs. Blais, who has already gained much praise by her paintings, has several of her best productions there. One of the most novel of these is the picture of a hut, framed in a corner of the boards, all overed. A summer scene is excellently done, as is also a picturing of rough, rugged rocks.

Mrs. Broadbeck has also a number of fine pieces, noticeable among which is a panel of roses and a fish piece. She has in crayon pictured Pharaoh's horses' heads so that they seem to be chiseled out of marble, the lines standing out in bold relief.

Mrs. C. F. Adams has several paintings. One is a large and well painted marine scene, and one of her landscapes is also of merit. Mrs. D. M. Connell has shown especially her skill in floral pieces.

THE ROMANCE OF A DANE.

He Wins A Prize in the Louisiana State Lottery and a Wife at the Same Time.

In the private office of the Louisiana State Lottery Company's fine building on St. Charles street, a representative of the "Pleasure met, on Thursday, Mr. Bidstrup, a dealer of Ascension parish, Mr. R. Spendrup and Mr. B. W. Lashley, also from the same parish.

These visitors seemed to be in the happiest of moods. On being accosted, Mr. Spendrup said he had come down from Donaldville, accompanied by his friends, to collect the amount of $15,000, which he had won in the Louisiana Lottery drawing of April 14, as holder of a fifth part of ticket No. 59,075, which secured the first capital prize of $75,000.

When Russia had conquered the khans, there was still hard work for her armies south of the Oxus, where large tribes of wild Turkomans constantly menaced her enterprises, and blocked the way to Herat.

NOT MARRYING THE FAMILY.

Philadelphia Call.

"Jinks--Get a week off and run down to the seashore with me."

"Oh, pshaw! Your income is bigger than mine, and you have no children."

"True; but it takes all I can make to keep things going. My wife's relations all insist on boarding with me about half the time."

"Now see here, Minks, I told you long ago just how it would be; yet you refused to listen, but kept saying that you were not going to marry the whole family."

"Well, I didn't, either; but the whole family seems to have married me."

A SEAL CAUGHT IN A NET.

A party of fishermen engaged in drawing a seine for shad in the Houstonic river at Strafford wondered when they commenced to draw upon the ropes what made the seine so heavy.

The seal is about four and a half feet long and weighs about 150 pounds. Its hair is of a light color. Last spring some of the Strafford shad fishermen entangled a seal in their seine, but the animal broke through his environment and escaped.
